EASTER SERVICES

Will be Held by St. Bernard Commandery Knights Templar

SUNDAY MORNING AT TEMPLE THEATRE.

Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock special Easter services will be held at Temple Theatre under the auspices of St. Bernard Commandery, No. 29, Knights Templar, and the public is cordially invited to attend and participate. Ministers of the various Earlington congregations have been asked to assist in this service. Mr. W. R. Jinnett, pastor of the Christian church and a member of St. Bernard Commandery, will preach the morning sermon. Mr. C. W. Hesson, of the M. E. Church, South, has called in his appointment for Sunday morning and will assist in the Easter service. An official call will be issued to the Sir Knights to assemble in their asylum prior to the hour for service. A choir of singers from the several churches has been made up and are practicing the music for that occasion. There will be some special numbers on the musical program including a solo by Mrs. Jas. R. Rash.

MR. JINNETT HAS ACCEPTED CALL TO COLUMBUS, INDIANA.

Will Leave Earlington Congregation in May for More Important Work.

Mr. W. R. Jinnett, who has been pastor of the Christian church at this place since June, 1903, has accepted a call to the church at Columbus, Indiana, where he will go in May.

This announcement will occasion genuine regret in the community at large and among all those who have come to know Mr. Jinnett either personally or in his church work. The Earlington congregation will lose a talented and scholarly and earnest man when Mr. Jinnett leaves. No arrangement has been made yet for his successor but church officials are already looking about for another pastor. Mr. Jinnett has put aside more than one call to other fields since he came to Earlington but this one is so important a field and of so urgent a nature that he could not disregard it.

RAZOR DUEL FOUGHT BY MOUNTAIN GIRLS

Rivals' Deadly Encounter on Lonely Road, for Love of a Man.

Owingsville, Ky., March 26.—It is reported here that in Letcher county (Ky.) Mary Mullen, 16, and Myrtle Moore, 13, daughters of mountain feudists, rivals in love, fought with razors and both were seriously injured.

For some time William Rogers, a young mountain man, had been paying Miss Mullen marked attention, and it is said the date of the wedding was fixed. When Rogers met Miss Moore and her beauty he forgot his love for Miss Mullen.

The latter gave him his freedom, but nourished an unquenchable fury against her successful rival. Learning that Miss Moore was out walking on a lonely road, Miss Mullen waylaid her and attacked her with a razor. Miss Moore also had a razor, and the two will carry marks of the encounter to their graves.

Two Lads From Tennessee Trying to Get to Hopkinsville.

Two white boys, aged thirteen and fourteen years, who gave their names as Ed and John Pike, arrived here yesterday afternoon during the rain and storm as wet as rats. They were driving a poor old mule which they said is thirty years of age, which was harnessed to an old dilapidated buggy. They were out of money and Chief James permitted them to spend the night in the station house.

They say that their home is near Athens, Tenn., and that their father is living. They say that their father married again after the death of his first wife and the boys say that their stepmother was so mean to them and they had to leave home and are trying to get to Hopkinsville where they have an aunt.

They left home on February 1st, and have since been on the way, stopping to work along the route wherever they could find it. The old mule has played out and can hardly travel. They resumed their journey this morning.—Bowling Green Times Journal.

Hopkinsville, Ky., March 26.—Frank Massie, Ed. Holland, William Garrett and Frank Sherman, the four negroes given life sentences for the Pembroke murder, were taken to Eddyville, this afternoon. George Holland, Dick Carney and Frank Merriweather, under death sentence, were taken to Paducah for safe keeping pending their execution.

CHICKS WERE MARKED.

Widow Plays Sherlock Holmes and Gets Back Her Stolen Birds.

Williamstown, Ky., March 23.—Two young white boys of this city are charged with taking chickens "right off the roost." The names of the two arrested are Hensley and Chandler. They are said to have gone to Widow Blisen's farm, near town, and captured a number of her fowls, which, it is said they sold to Henry Frakes, a dealer here, realizing $200 by the sale. The next morning Mrs. Blisen missed her chickens and hastened to town. Hearing of the sale she asked permission to examine the chickens, which was granted. Hardly had the coop been opened when she threw up her hands and exclaimed: "Bless my soul, them's mine. I know 'em because their tails and wings are rimmed." And so the proved to be. Hensley and Chandler were arrested and held to appear in the circuit court in June in the sum of $100 each.

An Easter Forecast

SATURDAY morn. of hopes galore.

The date for its arriving!

'Twould surely come, the milliner swore.

Though she be nonsuiciding.

Into the past the moments glide:

True more and more is nettled;

Alas, near the crest of Easter tide

The weather looks unsettled!

SATURDAY noon. It has not come!

(At night have been expected.)

And 'twice is twatful and face is glum

And figure all dejected.

Horizonward is a bank of cloud

Steadily onward-crawling.

Nervous the house, and anxious browed.

Barometer is falling.

SATURDAY eve—and still no heat!

Heavy the apprehension.

Milliners all are frauds, 'tis flat;

Prons, all, to mean invention.

To those who read a warning.

Floods and lightning and hurricane

Are due for Easter morning!

SATURDAY night. A step—a ring!

Rattle of tulle's paper!

Cries: "How darling!" "The sweet, sweet thing!"

Somebody cuts a caper.

Skies are suddenly smoothed, betimes;

The storm signs disappear, oh!

Up the mercury swiftly climbs:

For Easter: Bright and clear, oh!

Poe's Love of Richmond.

(April Century.)

Poe loved Richmond as he loved no other place on earth. His happy childhood was spent there—the only period of his troubled life which was free from want. Here he found his foster-father, John Allan, who was proud of the orphan boy, and the only mother he ever knew, who was sweet and gentle with him to the end. Here were the friends and playmates of his boyhood, and here lived the gentle woman who was the "Helen" of the most beautiful of his early poems. Here, after a first ceremony in Baltimore, he was married by a second to a lovely and youthful Virginia Clemm, and here they spent the happiest years of their married life. Here, as editor of the "Southern Literary Messenger," he did much of his best work.

Good Advice.

Louis Ladrumb, of the Central Record says:

If the newspaper men knew what a fight their committee had to retain the advertising law, they would ponder well before supporting another cheap screw politician for the Legislature. The newspapers are responsible for who is elected, and the boys will do well to take the advice of one who has had some experience with matters of value to the craft and support only men who are for the good of the people-at-large, and give no support whatever to men who allow their hatred of some paper (who has exposed some fraud, more than likely) to make them fight laws which every sensible man knows should be upon the statute books.

The arrest of Stevens, it is thought, will be the means of unearthing a gigantic swindle that has been going on for the past seventeen years. The charge is using the mails for fraudulent purposes.

LOCOMOTIVE BLASTS

The I. C. R. R. will begin using the L. & N. station at Evansville for both freight and passengers in a few days. By the arrangement the I. C. freights from the North will strike the belt line road at the new cotton mill and will run over the road by the I. C. engines to Brosse's mill, wherefrom they will enter the L. & N. yards.

Logan Carter, clerk in the master mechanic's office at Howell, was down with the grip a few days last week.

F. R. Newman, who was for several years connected with the L. & N. ticket offices in Evansville, and who is now city ticket agent of the Cuckoo route at Memphis, Tenn., was in Evansville Sunday visiting relatives.

Fireman J. J. Purcell went to Louisville Thursday on business, returning Monday morning.

M. F. DeJarnott, former Henderson Division time keeper, now postmaster at Howell, always has a funny story to tell his friends and most of them are original, if not exactly true. A colored man, he says, recently came to the window and asked if he had any two-cent stamps for sale. The reply was in the affirmative. The colored man said he would take two-cents worth. "If you please, sah," producing a quarter, and then adding: "Now, sah, wrap me up a bar o' soap and a plug o' tobaccoer."

Fireman J. L. Gatewood has resigned.

Master Mechanic Thomas Walsh was on the sick list last week, having the neuralgia in his head, for which he was obliged to take electrical treatment.

E. S. Hedgecock, chief clerk to the Superintendent of Machinery at Louisville, was at Howell last Monday on business.

The monthly Official Railway List for month of March contains 63 elegant photographs of prominent railway supply men.

To help the fireman along as much as possible the L. & N. R. R. company endeavored to station two men at the Mascoutah coal chutes to break up all the large lumps before being dumped on the tanks, realizing that it is about all the firemen can do to shovel in coal and keep the engines hot, without having to break up lumps. J. C. Upton and S. W. Pounders, who have been working at the shops at Howell, were the men sent, one to be in charge of the work during the day and the other during the night. As soon as the miners learned of this they informed the men that they could not break up lumps there unless they joined their miner's union and could produce a car. The superintendent of the mines and the L. & N. held that after the coal was turned over to the railroad company it was their property and they had no right to interfere with their employees breaking up the large lumps, but the miners would not listen to such reason, and to avoid a strike Messrs. Upton and Pounders returned to Howell, until further arrangements could be made.

Thomas Walsh went to St. Louis Sunday.

J. J. Reid, the general master mechanic, was at Howell, Sunday, from where he went to Nashville on 51.

Train Master R. E. Kemper has been made happy with a clerk to look after his correspondence while he is out on the line of road.

Mrs. M. E. Walsh of Howell, has gone to Montgomery, Ala., to visit her son and daughter, F. O. Walsh and Mrs. Frank Baugh.

Some of the railroad boys are beginning to wonder whether the L. & N. will join the I. C. C. & A. and other roads terminating in St. Louis in not issuing passes to employees during the World's Fair.

No. 61 and 63 were from 2 to 3 hours late Monday on account of trouble on St. Louis Division.

Engineer Jas. Long, who accompanied his sister as far west as St. Louis, returned on 53 Tuesday.

Brakeman Brown was injured at Empire Monday night by hill engine. He is trying to get to be seriously injured.

L. H. O'Brien sent a class of twelve to Howell Monday to be examined for firemen.

The freight train on Henderson Division has decreased slightly in the past week.

Night Operator Prather, of this city, attended Sunday School Sunday. This is a step in the right direction.

Dispatcher Griffin, one of the handsomest and best on the division, has decided to get married.

Operator Sanders went rabbit hunting Monday night and caught one. It was a grey rabbit and Sanders is trying to get it. He says it is a young one because it has a short tail.

RAIDED A CRAP GAME.

Officers Benton and Clark Enter a Blind Tiger and Raid a Crap Game. Four Caught.

City Marshal Benton and Officer R. N. Clark were uninvited guests to a private crap game given in a blind tiger Tuesday night. They succeeded in arresting George Smith and Will Biles, of Hecla, Harry Bradley, of Nashville, and Charles Moore, of Earlington, all colored. In the house were found three dozen bottles of beer, nine empty beer cases, six one gallon jugs and three half pint bottles of booze. After the men were arrested the officers relieved them of three pistols and took them to the city lockup.

Will Sell World's Fair Stamps April 30.

Washington, D. C. March 25.—The new series of stamps commemorating the Louisiana Purchase Exposition will be placed on sale by the Post Office Department on April 30 and will be continued until Dec. 1.

A prominent Louisiana planter says that new pea-sown broadcast on land infested with boll weevil will completely eradicate the pest. He says the boll weevil cannot exist where the peas are grown.

CALL FOR COUNTY AND DISTRICT CONVENTIONS.

Louisville, Ky., March 28.—Chairman Barnett, of the Republican State Central Committee, today mailed copies of the official call for the Republican State convention to the Republican electors of Kentucky. The issuance of the call has been delayed for a few days, owing to the serious illness of Mr. Barnett's little son at Hartford, which kept him away from the city several days.

The convention is called to assemble at Macaulay's Theater at 2 o'clock p. m. on Tuesday, May 3. The county conventions are ordered to hold their meetings for the selection of delegates to the State convention on April 23, the hour, place and manner being optional with the respective county committees. The State convention will be composed of 2,200 delegates.

Said district convention will appoint district delegates to the Republican National convention and nominate candidate for congress and attend to other matters. Said State convention will select delegates-at-large to the National convention and attend to other matters. March 26, 1904.

INSPECTION

St. Bernard Commandery Knights Templar Inspected by Grand Prelate R. S. Moses.

BANQUET PREPARED FOR THE OCCASION.

St. Bernard Commandery No. 29, Knights Templar, familiarly known as the "Baby Commandery," was visited last Friday evening by Grand Prelate R. S. Moses, of Louisville, for annual inspection and review. Sir Knight Moses reached Earlington that afternoon via Henderson and left for home Saturday morning. He was detained to inspect Madisonville Commandery also but that commandery found it inconvenient to hold a meeting on Saturday night and the inspector will do that work at a future date.

The orders of Knighthood were conferred, Mr. Earnest Eastwood being the candidate selected for the occasion, and a banquet was served in the banquet room of the commandery. An invitation was extended to Madisonville Commandery but the minstrel show and inclement weather prevented their attendance. The banquet was a beautiful affair and was prepared by Mrs. Dan M. Evans, wife of the Eminent Commander, and Mrs. Chas. H. McGary. The table was handsomely decorated with roses, carnations and ferns, set with most excellent taste and loaded with good things.

The Unknown Giver

A Story of an Easter Offering
By WALTON WILLIAMS

It was Palm Sunday. The first balmy spring day had come, and the lilac buds were bursting, displaying their tiny leaves. The flowers in the open air had not as yet shown any signs of life, but thousands were budding under glass panes to fill the churches on Easter Sunday. A young man and a girl were walking on a country road toward a spire that loomed in the distance above a clump of trees and from which a silver toned bell was summoning the people to the morning service.

"So you think, Ned," said the girl, "that you must give up your studies at the seminary and your plan of becoming a clergyman?"

"What can I do, Agnes? I have still two years of study before graduation and haven't a dollar in my pocket. I can make enough to keep me, for I can teach in vacation, tutor in term time and am quite sure of the Wilson scholarship. But mother needs every cent I can possibly earn, even giving all my time to money making. She not only needs her living, but, in the poor state of her health, the care of a doctor, comforts and delicacies."

The girl walked on without response. She knew what her friend said was true. Have you come to a decision as to what you will do?"

"No. We are not expected at the seminary till after Easter Sunday, and I shall decide on that day. The Lord will direct me."

"He will surely."

The young man left the church and joined Agnes Keith, who was waiting for him at the door. As they walked homeward Edward gave her the substance of his conversation with the minister. Birds were chirping in the trees lining the road, and an army of insects was crawling out into the sunlight. Youth, under the influence of the pleasant surroundings, stimulated both the young people to hopefulness. When they parted at the gate of Agnes Keith's home, she said:

"I am not sure but something may come of your interview with Dr. Wainright. He always does more than he promises. At any rate, wait."

"And trust in the Lord."

"I will do both for a week and one forever. Nevertheless I am sure I shall not go back to the seminary."

Easter Sunday came, with the same beautiful weather. Edward called at Agnes Keith's on his way to morning service, and they walked to the church together. They avoided the subject nearest their hearts, Edward entertaining his friend with some facts of interest about the transformation of certain creatures, typifying immortality. They found the church, as usual, crowded with flowers and rejoiced in the exultant Easter anthems. The burden of Dr. Wainright's discourse was "sacrifice," dwelling especially on what the Christian owed to his church, mentioning among other duties that of helping young men to prepare themselves.

church. The two had corresponded at intervals, but their duties lying in different directions, had drifted apart.

Edward Granger was a target for all the unmarried women of his congregation. Some of his intimate friends conspired to make a match between him and one of their number, an excellent young woman, somewhat fashionable and with a fortune. Edward, who was more interested in his work than in matrimony, at first resisted, but at last gave way under pressure and concluded to ask the lady to be his wife. He was leaving his study one afternoon to visit her for the purpose when the postman called and handed him a letter from his old friend, Dr. Wainright.

"I have often doubted," it read, "whether I have been doing right in withholding the name of the person who enabled you to enter the ministry. I have at last concluded to tell you, it being understood, as I have always said, that the gift was an Easter offering and cannot be returned. The donee was a woman who earned the money by teaching music and afterward by singing in church. Her name is Agnes Keith."

The Rev. Edward Granger started as if he had been shot. Rising from his chair, he looked at his watch, then started for a train for a neighboring city. When he arrived there in the early evening he drove to the house where Agnes Keith lived and was soon in her presence.

"Your Easter offering," he said, "has doubtless been acceptable to God, but the knowledge of it which came to me today has revealed my blindness and stupidity in so long letting slip a treasure. You made your offering to the Lord; give your heart to me."

"Has always been yours."

Edward Granger's congregation was shortly after surprised at the announcement of his engagement to a lady without their circle, living in a different city and making her own living.

The farmers of Shelby county last week met and organized the Shelby County Farmers' Club. The object of the club is to promote the farming interests of the county. Papers will be read and discussed at their meetings that are of interest to the farmers. The following officers were elected: President, J. A. Stanley; first vice president, T. L. Hornsby; second vice president, John Bots; secretary and treasurer, G. W. Waddy.

Don't fail to put in a little patch of sorghum. You may think you don't need it, but put in an odd corner and it will come in handy before the snow flies.

Don't chase too many rainbows in new theories. Stick to the old tried and true way; let your neighbors experiment, then you reap the benefit of their experience.

Don't waste a minute now, but wait until next winter to do your loading.

Don't fail to sow the bare spots in the timothy meadow; run over the bare spots with your cutting barrow set shallow, sow and roll the whole field with a heavy or weighted roller, it increases the yield.

Don't put in your potatoes too early; they sometimes freeze out. For seed get medium size smooth potatoes with plenty of eyes and known producing qualities.

Don't leave any piece of ground half prepared. Take a little more time and trouble and be satisfied that it is in the very best possible shape for the crop that is to be put in.

Tobacco Season.
The rains of last week afforded an excellent season for the handling of tobacco—in fact, the first real good season of the year. There is still very little activity in buying and the prices remain very low. It is estimated that less than 10 per cent. of the crop in this district has been sold. Reports from all sections of the district indicate a very material reduction in acreage for this year, some farmers abandoning the tobacco crop altogether.

Cockers intended for market should be separated from the pullets early and fed a ration largely made up of the more fattening foods.

Young growing pigs crave a variety of food, and it can be given them in slops better than in any other way. Even middlings and bran they do not relish as when made into slop.

In growing potatoes, a change of seed from north to south is a decided advantage. The crop is sure to be heavier and of more vigorous growth, consequently there is less liability to disease.

Little chicks, whether hatched under hens or in incubators, are usually fed too often, and also too much at a time. They should be given nothing for 36 hours after being hatched, as food in their early stages is a tax upon them.

We must now begin to grow the very best varieties of fruits, and market them in smaller packages and in the most attractive form. As a rule, dishonest methods never pay. The practice of the golden rule by the producer is sure to be appreciated by the consumer.

The McLean County Farmers' Club will meet at Calhoun April 4. The tobacco question will be given special attention. Seed, fertilizer, and other important matters will be considered, and at this meeting arrangements will be made for an institute meeting, which will be held in the fall.

The tobacco trade and growers of this state are rejoicing over the favorable prospects for the passage of a bill by the present congress removing the six-cent tobacco tax. It is the general belief the success of this measure will greatly benefit all who are interested in the tobacco industry.

Kentucky Crops Hurt.

Frankfort, Ky., March 18.—Commissioners of Agriculture Wendell has issued his crop report. He says that the reports from over the state show that the wheat crop has been damaged and nothing but an early spring will bring it out. The oats crop has not been a failure. The grasses and clover have fallen off.

"TO THY CROSS I CLING."

true. They had been schoolmates. She had watched the development of his brain, and when he decided to devote his talents to the ministry she had rejoiced. At that time his father was living and ready to help him. All assistance had been suddenly cut off by the death of that father a few weeks before.

"Oh, how I wish I were rich," exclaimed the girl, with a sigh. "How much good I could do with my money!"

"You don't suppose, Agnes, that I would accept assistance from a girl?" She tremled and looked at him with a pair of honest, expressive eyes that told him he had hurt her.

"That is, any girl except you," he said to heal the wound. "Of course, if you were very rich I would let you lend me what is needed and would pay you when I received a call."

By this time they had reached the church and joined the throng that was entering. After service the minister caught young Edward Granger's eye and beckoned him into his study.

"What's this I hear, Edward, about your giving up your studies for the ministry?"

"I am obliged to give them up," replied the young man, and he gave his reasons.

The clergyman knit his brows. "I am obliged to admit," he said, "that you are right, but I cannot be reconciled to the church losing your services. Were it not that we are so loaded with necessities just at this time I would make an attempt to raise what you need."

"You are very kind,"

"Not to you," interrupted the clergyman. "While I should be glad to serve you personally, I would not attempt to help you by leaving contributions for the church, and I know you too well to think that you would accept them. We need good men, fitted for our work, and I had set my heart on the church securing for the ministry. At this point Agnes turned and looked at her companion.

The services over, they were leaving the church when one of the deacons spoke to Edward, telling him that Dr. Wainright wished to see him at a moment in the vestry. There was a happy look in Agnes' eyes as she told Edward that she would wait for him outside.

"An Easter offering," said the clergyman, "has been made through me to the church, which concerns you. A Christian giver has consented to supply the funds which will be necessary to save you to the ministry. They will be paid not to you, but your mother, whose support is your first duty, thus leaving you free to devote yourself to the work of supplying your own needs and preparing yourself for your life work."

"And who is this Christian giver to whom I owe so much?"

"The giver prefers to obey the injunction. 'Let not your right hand know what your left hand doeth.' I am not permitted to give the name."

When Edward joined Agnes he could not repress an expression of inward pleasure. She listened to what he told her and gave him in reply only a pressure of the hand, indicating that her heart was too full to express her joy in words.

Five years passed. Edward Granger had sprung into prominence immediately after his graduation and was already the pastor of a large congregation. He had repeatedly requested Dr. Wainright to give him the name of the person who had supplied the funds that had enabled him to reach his heart's desire, but the doctor invariably replied that the money had been given as an Easter offering and could not be returned. Agnes Keith had become independent through her musical attainments, she, too, having left the country to take a position in a choir of a city

HEALTH BOARD

Asks that All Public Meetings of White Citizens be Abandoned for a Time.

Easter Services Will Not Be Held—Public School Adjourned Temporarily.

After THE BEE had gone to press last night on the first side the Board of Health, of Earlinton, held a meeting at which it was decided to take extra precautions that nothing should remain undone to prevent any further possible spread of smallpox. Notwithstanding the persistent rumors to the contrary, there are only two cases in Earlinton now and there may not be others. The feeling of uneasiness, however, that has been engendered on account of the two deaths near here, which were reported in the last issue of THE BEE, has made the people ready to believe that every case of illness reported may be a case of smallpox. In view of this feeling of uncertainty in certain quarters the Board has concluded to omit no precaution in their power to ask and now issues through THE BEE the following appeal for cooperation on the part of citizens:

In view of the fact that smallpox has again made its appearance in our town, this time among the white population, it is the duty of all good citizens to put forth every effort in their power toward preventing its spread and endeavoring in every way to stamp out this dread disease.

To this end the Board of Health of Earlinton recommends and earnestly requests that, for the time being, the white citizens of Earlinton refrain from all public gatherings of every nature. The public school will be closed and remain closed until all danger of smallpox is over.

Under present conditions we deem it wise and best for all concerned that families curtail their friendly visits as much as possible, especially among families where there is illness, unless the nature of the disease has been determined by a physician. Until the situation improves we request that all persons will immediately report any case of illness that may come to their knowledge, to Dr. E. A. Chatten, Health Officer.

All persons who have not been successfully vaccinated should at once be vaccinated.

During the first infection the disease was confined exclusively to the colored people, whose co-operation aided materially in stamping it out. While conditions do not justify us at this time in asking that the colored people cease their meetings, we earnestly request that they use their best efforts to assist this board by refraining from gathering in unnecessary crowds. Their church gatherings and schools will be permitted to continue until further notice.

Thanking all citizens for their hearty co-operation in this matter, we are,

Very respectfully,

JAS. R. RASH,
JNO. X. TAYLOR,
DAN M. EVANS,
Board of Health.

E. A. CHATTEN, M. D.,
Health Officer.

Individuality

There is an individuality about Kohn Brothers' Clothing—that "something" which marks and makes it just a little different, if not always just a little better than the ordinary "ready-made."

One point of excellence in their clothing and that which gives it individuality is the trimmings, finishings, etc. No cheap linings are used, it's either silk or all-wool serge, and every piece of thread used is pure dye silk, thoroughly tested before using.

All garments made in their own shops under their own personal supervision. It is this which makes "ready-made" clothing—the "New Kind"—desirable.

WORLD'S PRESS PARLIAMENT.

Sunday's Globe Democrat, speaking of the great convention of newspaper men to be held at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition the week of May 16-21, says:

Yesterday's mail brought letters from three German newspaper men who will attend the World's press parliament in May. They are H. von Kipper, editor in chief of the Local Anzeiger of Berlin; Dr. J. Kollmann, editor of the Frankfurter Zeitung of Frankfurt-on-the-Main, and Richard Nordhausen, publisher of the Gegenwart of Berlin. Acceptances were also received from Hugo Vageler, a leading journalist of Buda-Pesth, Hungary; Alfredo Mesquita, editor of Diario de Noticias of Lisbon, Portugal; William Hill of London, M. McD. Bodkin, editor of the Irish Packet, Dublin, Ireland, and Samuel S. Campion, editor of several English papers.

The Delaware press association, the Utah press association, the Illinois woman's press association and the North Dakota press association will all be represented.

Kentucky will also have a representative delegation to attend the National Editorial Association and the World's Press parliament, both of which are held the same week. The names of the Kentucky delegates will be announced in a few days.

The terrible danger to young girls who may go to the World's Fair unattended has been recognized by international organizations of Christian men and women. An appeal is being made for funds to employ special agents to watch all incoming trains at St. Louis and to prevent such girls falling into pitfalls that will be laid for them. The opportunities for evil to girls who go unprotected to a large city are always great but will be magnified during the Fair because of the many attractions and the great volume of travel. This danger should be kept constantly in mind by parents, guardians and friends of young girls. Everybody who can should visit this great Exposition but no young girls should be allowed to go alone.

This week and next are advertisers' week in The Bee. Every week, though, is advertisers' week in The Bee—the paper that reaches coal miners, railroad men, thrifty farmers; the people who have money to spend. The advertisers—the best ones—both local and general, are realizing these ad truths more and more from month to month. Among The Bee's general advertisers are found only the gilt edged; those who have meritorious things to sell, who know a good advertising medium when they see it and are willing to pay adequate rates for space in our kind of a paper. The Bee turns down invariably every advertisement offered that could be in the least objectionable to the best standard of morals. The Bee believes in keeping its ad columns as clean as its news and editorial columns, and its advertisers and subscribers the best in the shop at all times.

The Bee cheerfully recommends to its readers the large and reliable list of advertisers represented in this issue.

WANTED—To rent a house, centrally located, with five or more rooms.

SPEAKING of the Republican situation in Kentucky and the disagreement in the Louisville organizations the Evening Post says:

There is no danger of an anti-Roosevelt delegation from Kentucky to the Republican national convention; but there is grave danger that the anti-Roosevelt Republicans may obtain control of the Republican organization of the State. The President's friends in Kentucky should not surrender to his enemies now that the battle has been won.

GUILTY.

Senator Burton Convicted by Federal Jury at St. Louis.

St. Louis, March 28.—Joseph Ralph Burton, senior United States Senator from Kansas, was convicted by a jury in the United States District Court today on the charge of having accepted compensation to protect the interests of the Rialto Grain and Securities Company, of St. Louis, before the Postoffice Department. The jury deliberated forty-one hours.

A motion for a new trial was immediately filed by counsel for the Senator. Judge Adams thereupon ordered that Senator Burton appear in court either in person or by proxy at 10 o'clock from day to day until the court has heard the arguments for a new trial, and if decided against him to fix his punishment.

For a time there threatened to be a disagreement in the jury. The jury was brought before Judge Adams, who asked the cause for the long delay. He was told that eleven jurors had agreed, but the twelfth stood alone.

The Evidence.

The evidence adduced against Senator Burton may be summarized as follows:

In November, 1902, he accepted a proposition to become general counsel of the Rialto Grain and Securities Company, a concern whose operations at the time were under the scrutiny of post-office officials.

Burton demanded $2,500 for his services, but he was satisfied to be paid in monthly installments of $500 each.

Soon after his employment it developed that the Federal grand jury was investigating the Brooks Brokerage Company, with which Maj. Hugh O. Dennis, president of the Rialto Company, had been associated.

Numerous letters written by Burton showed that the Senator was using his influence to prevent the issuance of a fraud order against the Rialto Grain and Securities Company.

Burton submitted regular reports to the Rialto people, telling them how matters were progressing at Washington, advising them of complaints filed at the Post-office Department, and closing with the assurance that "if you look after things at your end of the line I will attend to matters here."

The testimony of post-office officials was that Senator Burton had told them he intended to practice before the department; that he had lost $70,000 in the panic and desired to make some money as a practicing attorney.

Senator Burton was indicted in January last. Although as a member of Congress he could not be arrested until after that body adjourned he voluntarily surrendered himself to the prosecuting authorities. He still had two years to serve in the Senate.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK.

Because He Didn't Advertise.

A woman in a neighboring town bought a new fangled coffee pot from a peddler. In the evening she showed it to her husband, a hardware dealer, who told her he kept the same thing in his store for half the price she had paid. "Well," she said, "why don't you advertise? Nobody ever knows what you have for sale."

"My wife," said a well-known business man, "reads the advertisements as conscientiously and as carefully as she does the news. She considers it safer to buy of advertisers, for she feels that the seller who advertises is more likely to treat her honestly and give her full money's worth than the dealer who does not advertise. My wife is a reasoning woman," continued the gentleman, "and she reasons that the man who advertises has confidence in his goods, and therefore has the best goods for the money."

THE FAIR AT NIGHT.

Lights of Changing Hues Will Flood the St. Louis Picture.

Electric Effects are Combined with Other Ingenious Contrivances in Revealing Beauty of the World's Fair in Her Robe of Darkness.

The night effects of the Exposition will be a symphony in color. The exhibit buildings will be bathed in a pure white light, which will bring out into strong relief their beautiful outlines and the richness of the tints and mural paintings on their screen walls.

Chief Henry Rustin, who is head of the department of electrical design, has charge of this important feature. Acting in the same capacity at Omaha and Buffalo, he set so high a standard there that his effort to outdo it at St. Louis is the supreme one of his life.

By ingeniously contrived lights the whole picture will be flooded at night with changing hues. At one time the scene will be a harmony of violet, changing into amber, emerald, crimson and amethyst, running the whole gamut of color combinations so skillfully that the spectator hardly will be conscious where one color leaves off and the other begins. But through all the changes of colors thrown on the buildings it will be possible for the cascades to retain a distinctive tint.

Mercury vapor lamps are cleverly concealed in the bases of the sculpture, lining the sides of the cascades, the rays being thrown from concealed reflectors through small windows at an angle that will not meet the vision of spectators from any point of view. In this light the waters of the cascades will have the appearance at one time of a ghostly phosphorescent torrent, at another moment of floods of opal gems and again of a cataract of living flame.

Every source of the wonderful kaleidoscopic effects will be ingeniously hidden. It will be possible to pick out different parts of the hill and its structures in different colors. Thus while the hill in the center will be a rose color, one arm of the colonnade orange, the other violet and the twin pavilions emerald, the whole splendid effect will be attained without confusion of colors.

The night effects on other parts of the site have not been forgotten. An electric fountain, that will be a thing of beauty and a riot of color, surpassing anything of the kind ever designed, will occupy a point of vantage on the grounds. The exhibit buildings at night will appear to be giant cornices of white light supported at the four corners and the centers by immense columns of light. The rest of the cascades will be so treated that their massive columns will be silhouetted against the screen walls which will be banks of blazing white light.

PATENT EXHIBIT AT FAIR.

The United States is to show some interesting models of early inventions.

The exhibit of the United States Patent Office at the World's Fair will show a series of models designed to represent ideas that have made a mark in the industrial history of the world. So far as possible, the first thing of its kind in every line of human invention will be shown. For instance, visitors will have an opportunity to see the actual sewing machine which was the first practical contrivance of its kind ever constructed. It was patented in 1846 by Elias Howe. Previously, in 1842, J. J. Greenough had obtained a patent for a sewing machine, which carried the cloth along automatically, having a needle with a hole in the middle.

Equally interesting in its way is the earliest typewriter, which was patented by C. Thurber in 1842. The type keys are set around the periphery of a horizontal brass wheel, and in order to print a letter it is merely necessary to punch one of the buttons, which causes the type to descend through a little tube and make a mark upon a slip of white paper.

The exhibit will include a model of the first cast-iron plow, which was patented by Charles Newbold in 1797, and the first screw propeller, which was invented by Robert Hook in 1680.

The invention of the steamboat is credited to Robert Fulton, yet in the seventeenth century Frenchmen paid launched on the Seine, in France, a boat that was run by steam. It is a matter of historical record that the river barge men smashed Fulton's boat because they feared that it would injure their business.

The most interesting of all models, however, in the line of aquatic, will be that of Abraham Lincoln's famous device for lifting steamboats off shoals.

Another exhibit will be the first printing press and harvesting machine, the latter made in 180 B. C.

The first locomotive and first steam engine, made in Egypt 150 B. C., also will be shown with many other rare inventions.

Four Million Plants. More than 4,000,000 flowering and foliage plants are required to fill the beds in the Cascades Gardens at the World's Fair. These plants were all propagated in the World's Fair greenhouses and are ready for transplanting.

Intra-Mural Railway Completed. The Intra-Mural railway at the World's Fair is finished and after a test was found satisfactory. The visitor may board the cars at any station and reach any point of the Exposition for one fare.

Five Years in the Pen.

Offie Beatty, a photographer, of Fordsville, Ky., who was recently convicted in the United States Court on a charge of raising one dollar bills to the denomination of $10, was sentenced to five years' imprisonment at hard labor in the Government penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga., by Judge Evans Tuesday.

The sentence was passed after a motion for a new trial, made by Beatty's attorney, Morton K. Yonts, was overruled. When the prisoner was asked if he had anything to say why sentence should not be passed upon him, he said:

"Nothing, except that the jury did not convict the right man."

Judge Evans told the prisoner that the jury had been guided solely by evidence, which was overwhelmingly against him, and remarked that in his opinion the finding of the jury was correct.

Beatty and William R. Henson, the letter carrier sentenced to two years imprisonment for rifling letters, were taken to Atlanta by Deputy Marshal William Blades Wednesday.

Indian Eats Wife and Child.

Duluth, Minn., Gust Brandon, who has been "cruising" between Tower and Koochiching, arrived here last night and confirmed the reports of cannibalism on the Leech Lake reservation. Brandon was near Uelician Lake at the time it was asserted that an Indian had killed and eaten his wife and child. Two days later Brandon met a small party of Boise Fort Indians, who were on their way to the west end of Vermillion Lake.

From these Indians Brandon learned of the killing, and he says his information is authentic. He was told that the Indian who committed the deed was shiftless. During a spree he killed both his wife and child, and later devoured parts of their bodies to avert starvation.

How Many?

The age of Ann having been settled in various ways this one now goes the rounds:

If Johnnie Jones has seven dogs,

And every dog is white,

And fourteen cats come chosing round

Each one as black as night;

And each two cats has eighteen lives,

Less three destroyed by rats,

How many lives must three dogs take

Before they kill eight cats?

Prominent Sculptors Artistically

Many Choice Bits of Sculpture Representing

Buildings and Embellish
the Landscape.

The Louisiana Purchase Exposition is profusely adorned with statuary. The historic character of the exposition affords opportunity for use in the avenues and courts, and at the entrance of buildings, of portraying statues and other figures and groups having historic significance in connection with the Louisiana Purchase.

Besides this there is also an abundance of purely decorative sculpture, that is sculpture which is architectural and monumental, intended to express various poetic ideas and afford beautiful and inspiring effects. Much of the latter class of sculpture is used in the adornment of the central architectural feature of the Exposition—the Festival Hall, Colonnade of States and Cascade Gardens. The statuary for the Colonnade of States, however, has historic significance in that the various figures typify the states and territories formed out of the original Louisiana territory. The Exposition palaces are adorned with quadrigas, sphinxes, pediment figures, carouches and other architectural sculpture, and some of the buildings have appropriate figures at the entrance, such as the Missouri building, where on either side of the main entrance are seated figures of Napoleon and Jefferson, and the Art Palace, where at the main entrance are seated figures representing such subjects as Nature and Truth. Another statue for the entrance to this building is entitled Sculpture, and it is the work of Daniel C. French. This building has much

FAIR NEARLY READY

Activity Everywhere in Evidence at Greatest of World's Fairs.

All the Exhibit Palaces Are Practically Completed—The Pike Costs
Over $5,000,000—Thousands of Men Engaged in Landscape Work.

February finds the World's Fair City donning the finishing touches of splendor that will greet the eyes of the millions of visitors on April 30, the opening day.

A bird's-eye view of the sight causes the observer to express surprise at the forward state of everything pertaining to the enterprise. He sees the central picture almost as it will be when the throbbing machinery shall be set in motion. The palaces of Varied Industries, Machinery, Manufacture, Mines and Metallurgy, Education and Electricity, Liberal Arts and Transportation used little if anything to place them in readiness for the time when the world shall seek admission. The Colonnade of States has become a magnificent reality, and immediately in its central front rises the Festival Hall, whose massive dome reaches skyward 200 feet and is larger than any in the world. Behind the Colonnade, clothed in architectural magnificence, is the permanent Art Building of white stone. One sees the lagoons completed and also the ways where great caravans will leap down the terrace.

And in an equally advanced stage is the second picture, which has the giant Palace of Agriculture as its central figure, with the Palaces of Horticulture and Forestry, Fish and Game as noble adjuncts. Here a rose garden, covering six acres of ground, has been planted; here the great floral clock has been installed, and the plants that will serve as nurseries are ready to be taken from the greenhouses; here again has been outlined the map of the United States, in which each commonwealth will be represented by the vegetable life for which it is prominent in the world of commerce; and here also ponds are formed for the lotus of the Nile and the lily of the Amazon, flowers that will flourish in nurseries of tropical heat until the warm rays of spring permit their transplanting.

In the district known as the Terrace of States buildings have risen as if by magic. No boom town ever grew with the rapidity shown in this wooded area. In the immediate neighborhood, a leviathan of steel arches, in the United States Government building, in which are now being installed the curios from the Smithsonian Institution. The Army and Navy displays, and others equally interesting, have been sent from Washington and are now being put in place.

Great Britain's structure is practically completed, and the material used in construction is so similar to that in the famous Orangery that visitors from the little isle might well imagine themselves home again when in its vicinity; Le Grand Trianon of France has taken perfect shape; Germany's castle is practically finished; Mexico's pretty home has long been completed; Chinese and Japanese workmen are on the ground, adding the delicate finishing touches to their creations; Belgium is keeping contractors busy; and so one might continue to enumerate until a sentence would be given to every nation in the world.

Where Arrowhead Lake will furnish a delightful retreat for those who enjoy boating a band of Filipinos are working in native woods in their curious way and forming a village. Near them are Hawaiians, similarly engaged, and men from Porto Rico and the territory of Uncle Sam in Samoa.

In every portion of the twelve hundred and forty acres are landscape artists with their forces—hundreds, yes thousands of men—who are rolling lawns into smoothness, forming beauty spots of flowers and decorating pathways. Activity is the watchword on the Pike, as well as elsewhere on the grounds, and the many houses of pleasure which amusement caters from every part of the globe are preparing for the visitors who will be present before the Fair opens. Eighty-five concessions have been granted so far, and five million dollars will be expended in these by the projectors before a cent will be taken in at the doors. Even this great sum does not represent the total amount that will be invested.

Col. Toombs yesterday received from his old friend, Dr. A. J. Sweeney, of Gallatin, Tenn., one hundred pounds of Bermuda grass seed with which he proposes to establish a turf in his yard. Said yard for some years past has been as blank as a tombstone of a tombstone, the ground being too indigent of rain-falls but the Colonel thinks he holds the ace and deuce this time, as Bermuda grass has been known to flourish during a drought in the desert of Sahara and this particular variety would take root in the bottom of a wash kettle. Gov. Peabody Orders Arrest of Foreign Walking Delegates.

Denver, Colo., March 26.—Gov. Peabody and Attorney General Miller held a conference this afternoon and to-night, at which it was proposed to instruct Maj. Zeph T. Hill, military commander at Trinidad, to secure a special train and escort beyond the borders of the state "Mother" Jones of Pennsylvania, W. R. Fairley of Alabama, William Wardington of Iowa, Chris Evans of Indiana and Edward Demolli of Utah.

MINERS' PRESIDENT ARRESTED

Held for Desecrating Flag.—Colorado Strikers Threatened to Release Him.

Duray, Colo., March 26.—Charles Meyer, president of the Western Federation of miners, was arrested here today on a charge of desecrating the American flag, and started overland for Telluride. It is said some of his friends, armed, have started from another direction and will try to intercept Sheriff Rutan of San Miguel county, who has the prisoner in charge, and release him if possible. One party is said to under the lead of President McLean of the Ouray miners' union. President Meyer was arrested on a warrant sworn out by M. A. Wood of Telluride. The alleged desecration consisted in using oictures of the flag, with inscriptions painted between the bars as posters.

Trinidad, Colo., March 26.—The office of 11 Trovatore Italiano was seized today by a squad of soldiers under command of Maj. Randolph, and this week's issue, which was ready for distribution, was confiscated. It is alleged that this paper has been inciting the strikers to violence.

AMBUSH OF NON-UNION MINERS IN TENNESSEE

Dayton Miners Fired Upon but Assaults are Repulsed.

Dayton, Tenn., March 26.—A trainload of miners, returning from the mines of the Dayton Coal and Iron Company, was fired upon last evening and four or five men wounded. The attacking party was concealed among the rocks and brush, and used rifles and shotguns charged with buckshot. The fire was returned and it is believed that one of the assaults was wounded. The attack grew out of the feeling on the part of the union men toward the non-union miners because the latter have not joined the former in a strike which has been in progress for several months. Several non-union men have recently received anonymous letters threatening violence if they continued to work, and the union men in a body have several times recently met the train and hoisted and jeered at the workmen.

The conference of coal operators and union miners of district 23 is still meeting at Louisville and traveling with some deliberation and ceremony toward the settlement of wage scale for the coming year. An adjournment was taken on Monday afternoon until today in order to prepare certain information bearing on the questions at issue. It is probable an amicable settlement will be reached this week.

The Alice Brown, one of the best towboats belonging to the coal trust, was blown to pieces on the lower Ohio Friday night and eighteen boats of her fleet, loaded with coal were sunk and the rest scattered. Saturday morning the W. W. O'Neill lost thirty-one barges loaded with coal. The loss of the two disasters amounts to at least $75,000.

One of the largest and most expensive mineral collections in existence, owned by John F. Campion of Leadville, Colo., will be a part of Colorado's exhibit at the World's Fair. The collection is valued at $250,000. The bullion value of it alone is $80,000. It has never been placed on exhibition before.

Cold Cause Pneumonia.

One of the most remarkable cases of a cold, deep seated on the lungs, causing pneumonia, is that of Mrs. Gertrude E. Fenner, Marion, Ind., who was entirely cured by the use of One Minute Cough Cure. She says: "The coughing and straining so weakened me that I ran down in weight from 145 to 122 pounds. I tried a number of remedies to no avail until I used One Minute Cough Cure. Four bottles of this wonderful remedy cured me entirely of the cough, strengthened my lungs and restored me to my normal weight, health and strength."
